Outcomes

At the conclusion of this course, you will be able to

- explain the research behind the program, and apply it to lessons; and
- implement the program effectively at the unit and lesson levels.

Session 1: The Research Base behind iLit™

Session 1 Objectives

By the end of Session 1, you will be able to

- understand the research behind iLit™; and
- review and analyze Ramp-Up research.

Pause and Reflect

Please respond to the following question.

As you begin to understand the instructional model and research base upon which iLit™ is built, what are your thoughts about why iLit™ and Ramp-Up Literacy® are so effective?

Video Reflection

After viewing the interview, respond to the following questions.

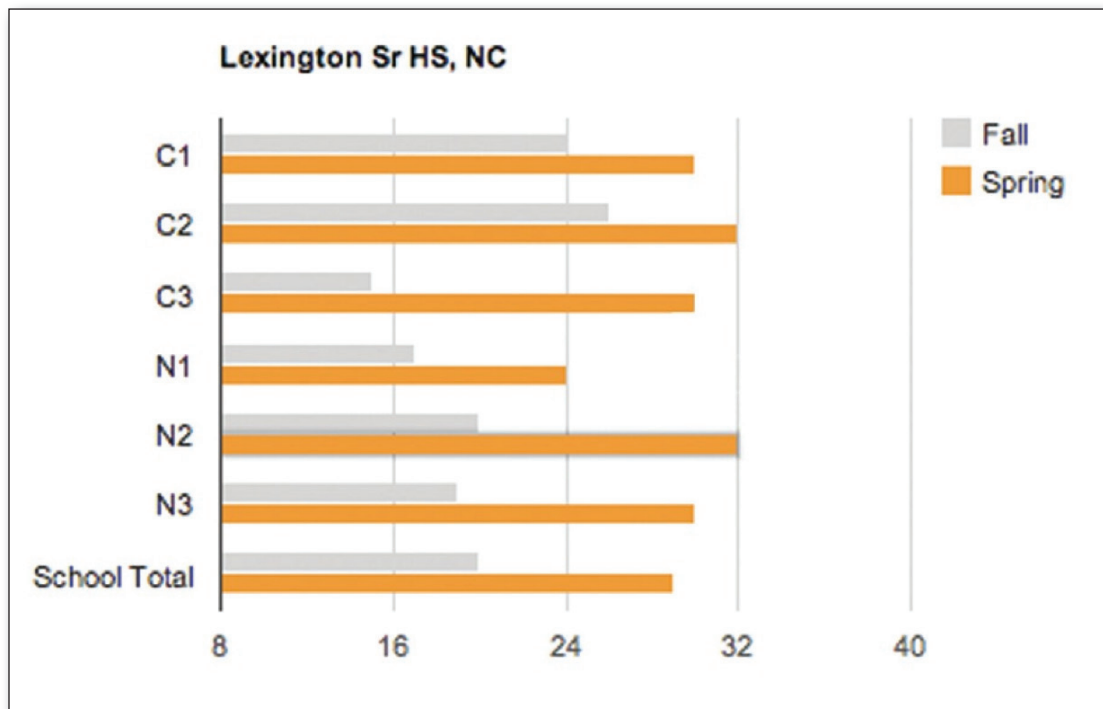

What aspects of the instructional model does the teacher reference in this video?

Why are these aspects effective in increasing student achievement?

Digging into Ramp-Up Research

Examine the following graphs depicting student performance after Ramp-Up® Literacy instruction.

Six Classes' Performance on Pre- and Post-Tests

What does the graph show?

How did Ramp-Up® Literacy instruction affect student growth?

Classroom Scenarios: Identifying the Instructional Model

Read the following classroom scenarios and determine which component of the Ramp-Up instructional model is being implemented.

Scenario 1:

Ms. Johnson welcomes students as they enter class. Some students go directly to their seats, take out books and begin to read, while others browse the bookshelves in the classroom. By the time the bell rings, all students are in their seats reading a book or text of their choosing. Ms. Johnson stops by a student's desk and has a brief conference with him, asking him what he is reading, what he thinks of it so far, and asks him to talk about the process he uses when he comes to a part he does not understand. Ms. Johnson confers with three more students during the next ten minutes. At the end of the ten minutes, Ms. Johnson calls the class together and begins her lesson.

Which component of the instructional model is being implemented? Place a check (✓) in front of the correct component

- ☐ Explicit teaching and modeling of comprehension and vocabulary
- ☐ Ongoing formative assessment
- ☐ Engagement and motivation
- ☐ Modeling of comprehension strategies
- ☐ Workshop model
- ☐ Gradual release model

Scenario 2:

During the last five minutes of class, Mr. Brown asks his students to take out a half sheet of paper and reflect on the following items:

- Summarize what you learned today in one sentence.
- What do you still have questions about?
- What do you feel like you could teach someone else you know it so well?

Mr. Brown collects the students' responses after class and reads them, looking for patterns in the answers. He makes a list of the questions that he continually sees in the students' responses as well as the concepts that students feel they know well. Mr. Brown plans the next day's lesson based off of this student input.

Which component of the instructional model is being implemented? Place a check (✓) in front of the correct component.

- ☐ Explicit teaching and modeling of comprehension and vocabulary
- ☐ Ongoing formative assessment
- ☐ Engagement and motivation
- ☐ Modeling of comprehension strategies
- ☐ Workshop model
- ☐ Gradual release model

Scenario 3:

Mrs. Andrews begins class with a read aloud during which she thinks aloud, showing students how she uses visualization to help her make meaning of the text. Then, the class works together to read the beginning of a short story, stopping to talk about places where visualization assists meaning. Mrs. Andrews leads this discussion, adding onto what students say, and redirecting as necessary. Next, students work in groups of three to continue reading and practicing the skill of visualization. During this time, Mrs. Andrews works with students who were struggling during the whole-group conversation. Finally, students finish reading the short story on their own and keep track of how visualizing helped them make meaning on sticky notes. Mrs. Andrews works with individual students during this time, checking in on most students.

Which component of the instructional model is being implemented? Place a check (✓) in front of the correct component

- ☐ Explicit teaching and modeling of comprehension and vocabulary
- ☐ Ongoing formative assessment
- ☐ Engagement and motivation
- ☐ Modeling of comprehension strategies
- ☐ Workshop model
- ☐ Gradual release model

Session 2: Connecting iLit™ to Research

Session 2 Objectives

By the end of Session 2, you will be able to

- identify the similarities between iLit™ and Ramp-Up® Literacy; and
- explain how research-based best practices are embedded in iLit™.

Pause and Reflect

Please respond to the following question.

Provide two examples of how iLit™ incorporates research-based best practices into the program.

Video Reflection

After viewing the interview, respond to the following questions.

What evidence of the workshop model do you see present in iLit™?

How can the workshop model be used to increase student engagement and achievement?

How do you currently utilize the workshop model in your classroom?

Read Aloud, Think Aloud

Select an iLit™ lesson of your choosing. Review and practice teaching the Read Aloud, Think Aloud lesson segment for the selected lesson. Answer the following reflection questions when you have completed the activity.

What strategy or skill was being modeled?

Session 2: Connecting iLit™ to Research

How did iLit™ assist you in modeling and thinking aloud?

What was challenging about this lesson segment?

How would you address students who struggled or appeared unengaged during this lesson segment?

iLit™ Unit Review

Select an iLit™ unit of your choosing to review. Answer the following guiding questions when you have completed your review.

What do you notice about how the unit is structured?

What are the priority comprehension skills in this unit?

What are some of the text types students will be exposed to during this unit?

Session 3: Effective Implementation of iLit™: Unit Level

Session 3 Objectives

By the end of Session 3, you will be able to

- identify how knowledge of the research base assists with implementation of iLit™ at the unit level; and
- effectively implement iLit™ at the unit level.

Pause and Reflect

Please respond to the following question.

Why does knowledge of the research base in iLit™ assist with effective implementation?

Unit Guidelines

Imagine a new teacher in your building has been assigned as an iLit™ teacher. Your principal has asked you to mentor and lead the teacher as he or she begins to work with the program. Your principal asks you to create a document that explains how to best plan for a new unit of instruction for iLit™. Think about the following topics as you create your Unit Guidelines Document:

- Understanding the flow of the unit
- Planning time
- Teaching time
- Lesson planning
- Technology components

Use the following space to create a set of guidelines for the new teacher to follow as he implements iLit™.

Implementation Reflection

Answer the following questions as you reflect on your current level of iLit™ implementation:

How closely are you currently following the iLit™ unit and lesson plans?

How has learning about the research base of iLit™ changed your thinking about how you implement iLit™?

What current barriers do you feel you face in effectively implementing iLit™?

What is one (or more) area(s) of iLit™ you feel you have effectively implemented already? Why?

iLit™ Lesson Review

Select an iLit™ lesson to review from the unit you choose to examine for today's session. Answer the following guiding questions when you have completed your review.

At the lesson level, what do you notice about the flow of the lessons?

How is scaffolding (support for students) built into the lessons?

How does iLit™ assist the teacher in effective implementation?

Session 4: Effective Implementation of iLit™: Lesson Level

Session 4 Objectives

By the end of Session 4, you will be able to

- identify how knowledge of the research base assists with lesson-level implementation of iLit™; and
- effectively implement iLit™ at the lesson level.

Pause and Reflect

Please respond to the following question.

What aspects of research-based best practices are evident in the first three iLit™ lesson segments?

Video Reflection

After viewing the video, please respond to the following reflection questions.

What components of the instructional base do you see embedded in this lesson segment?

What instructional moves does the teacher use to include students in the lesson?

How does what you saw in the video relate to your own teaching of iLit™? What do you do that is similar or different?

Creating an Implementation Plan

Use the following guiding questions to help you create a plan for effective implementation of iLit™.

What do you need to effectively implement iLit™?

List the steps you will take to effectively implement the program.

Plan for Future Reflection

It will be important for you to reflect on the effectiveness of your implementation plan. Use the questions below to help you plan for future reflection.

When and how frequently will you reflect upon the effectiveness of iLit™?

How will you measure your effectiveness?

Session 5: Sharing the Value and Power of iLit™

Session 5 Objective

By the end of Session 5, you will be able to

- effectively present iLit™ to stakeholders.

Pause and Reflect

Please respond to the following question.

Think of your current teaching situation. Which stakeholder groups will need you to share iLit™ information with them? Why?

Brainstorm

Brainstorm ways you could share information about iLit™ with the following stakeholder groups and also what components of the program you would emphasize with each group.

- Parents
- School board
- Other teachers
- Administrators

Presentation Plan

Select a stakeholder group and create a presentation plan for sharing iLit™ with that group. Use the following guiding questions to assist you.

Who will be the intended audience of your presentation?

What is the purpose of the presentation?

What components or aspects of iLit™ will you highlight?

Planning Space:

Final Assignment

Present the presentation you planned to the applicable group of stakeholders. When you have completed the presentation, reflect on how the presentation went, using the following guiding questions.

How do you feel the presentation went?

Do you feel you were able to fulfill the purpose you identified when you planned the presentation? Why or why not?

Were the stakeholders receptive to the information you presented? How do you know?
