Outcomes

At the conclusion of this workshop, you will be able to

- use Cornerstone program materials to meet student needs;
- implement the system's instruction, professional development, and assessment into the district or classroom; and
- identify Common Core State Standards (CCSS) correlations and the benefits on student performance.

Course Assignment and Preparation Checklist

	Session Preparation Complete before attending the session.		Session Assignments Complete after attending the session.
1: All Together with Cornerstone	Read through the Teacher's Edition of Cornerstone.	✓	Answer discussion questions on the Discussion Board.	✓
2: Integrating Instruction
3: Instructional Support and Professional Development
4: Progress Monitoring and Assessment
5: Meeting Standards

Content Objectives for Session 1

You will be able to:

- Identify key program features and materials in Cornerstone.
- Recognize assessment, instruction, and professional development as a comprehensive solution to address the needs of English learners.

Language Objectives for Session 1

You will be able to:

- discuss how Cornerstone resources will impact instruction for English learners; and
- explain orally and in writing how Cornerstone aligns with the comprehensive solution to address the needs of English learners.

Session 1: All Together with Cornerstone

Ice-Breaker

“The United States Department of Education has reported that by 2025, one out of every four students will be designated as an English language learner (ELL). In addition, more than 85% of ELLs struggle to achieve academic proficiency by high school.”

(Pearson Education, Inc. 2013, 6)

Activity: English Learner Proficiency

Write your response to the statement above and be prepared to share your response with the group.

Have you had experiences that support the finding in the quote above about English learners' struggle to achieve academic proficiency? Record your experiences.

Content Focus

The English Learner Landscape

After watching the video, answer the following question: How can understanding cultural background help you with your instruction of English learners?

Growing Populations

Activity: Respond and Chat

Your facilitator will provide you with a list of statistics about English learners. How do these statistics impact you as an educator and what are some of the challenges that you face?

Notes:

Reflect and Look Forward

Activity: Respond and Chat

What instructional features in Cornerstone support you in meeting the needs of English learners?

- What is the feature? Define it in layman's terms.
- What are the implications for instruction? To answer this question, you might think about the following:
 - How does the feature affect students' language development?
 - How do you teach the feature?
 - How do you monitor students' learning of the feature?
 - How do you manage the feature's instruction?

This image shows a single sheet of white paper with horizontal ruling lines. The lines are evenly spaced and run across the width of the page. There are no margins, text, or other markings on the paper.

Session 2: Integrating Instruction

Session 1 Review

After reading others' responses on the Discussion Board post from Session 1, are there features in the program that are important to language development at your grade level? What are some new ways you can use Cornerstone?

Content Objectives for Session 2

You will be able to:

- Identify the instructional content organization and how to integrate it in your classes.
- Apply the instructional resources to teach with the program.

Language Objectives for Session 2

You will be able to:

- Write responses to the Big Questions and share with other participants.
- Write a summary of a text from the program and explain the importance of reading both informational and literary texts.
- Identify in writing examples of usage of Big Questions throughout a unit.

Session 3: Instructional Support and Professional Development

Session 2 Review

After reading others' responses on the Discussion Board post from Session 3, how do the instructional components in Cornerstone provide instruction and practice in language skills while focusing on building academic language?

What opportunities do these resources provide to allow English learners to produce language and learn critical vocabulary, grammar, and comprehension skills?

Content Objectives for Session 3

You will be able to:

- Identify the connections between instructional support and professional development in Cornerstone.
- Understand the different teaching resources summarized on the planner to make lesson planning simple and easy.

Language Objectives for Session 3

You will be able to:

- Write lesson plans using the scaffolded instructional supports and sustained instruction and language development strategies for elementary students.
- Explain how to incorporate and embed SIOP® and A+RISE® into instruction to meet the need of English learners.

Scavenger Hunt: Making Connections

Go on a scavenger hunt using the information in the session and your materials you have in your program. Locate the features below. Reflect on how they connect to the instructional support and provides a clearly-defined road map of instruction.

Session 4: Progress Monitoring and Assessment

Session 3 Review

After reading others' responses on the Discussion Board post from Session 3, what connections between instructional support and professional development are supported in Cornerstone to address specific language development needs for English learners?

What resources provided in Cornerstone accelerate students' academic achievement?

Content Objectives for Session 4

You will be able to:

- Identify the instructional supports that help you with assessment.
- Be aware of the formative and summative assessment options in the program.
- Learn about AIMSweb and how it can be used as a progress monitoring assessment tool.
- Understand how the Standard English Language Proficiency 2 (SELP 2) can be used to assess students.

Language Objectives for Session 4

You will be able to

- Write and share examples of progress monitoring and assessment in Cornerstone.
- Explain how AIMSweb and SELP 2 can be used to assess students.

AIMSweb Video

Use the content from the video and to complete the following questions:

1. What is AIMSweb?

2. How does it work?

3. What is Curriculum Based Measurement (CBM)?

4. What is the duration of an assessment in AIMSweb?

5. What did you learn from the example provided in the video?

6. How is AIMSweb used in Cornerstone? Find examples of the CBMs at point of use in your Teacher's Edition?

Reflection Question

How can SELP 2 and AIMSweb assist in monitoring progress and assessment in Cornerstone?

Progress Monitoring and Assessment Activity

Look at a unit in your Teacher's Edition and record examples of progress monitoring and assessment related to that specific unit.

Unit Example	Progress Monitoring	Assessment

Cornerstone Point-of-Use Activity

- Refer to a lesson and identify the assessment component. Describe how AIMSweb and SELP 2 support you in reaching realistic instructional goals for English learners.
- How does progress monitoring support you to assess an individual learner's needs?

This image shows a single sheet of white paper with horizontal ruling lines. The lines are evenly spaced and run across the width of the page. There are no margins, text, or other markings on the paper.

Session 5: Meeting Standards

Content Objectives for Session 5

You will be able to:

- Recognize how Cornerstone prepares students to meet the Common Core State Standards.
- Identify English Language Proficiency represented in Cornerstone.

Language Objectives for Session 5

You will be able to:

- Explain orally and in writing the alignment of Common Core State Standards and how it provides instruction that balances academic rigor.
- Discuss how Cornerstone lessons support English Language Proficiency Standards.

Activity: KWL Chart

Complete the K and the W in the KWL, the following questions should be answered:

- What do you know about English proficiency standards and Common Core State Standards?
- What do you want to know about English learners, Common Core State Standards and English Language Proficiency Standards?

I Know	I Want to Know	I Learned

Developing Academic Literacy

Why is academic vocabulary important? Where is it introduced and taught in Cornerstone?

Video: Academic Language

As you watch the video, reflect on the following questions:

- How significant academic language in empowering language learners to reach for success?

- How do instructional materials demonstrably teach academic language that can be applied across the curriculum?

Comparative Proficiency Levels

Comparative Proficiency Levels

English Learner Profiles

English learners have different levels of language proficiency. Pearson Longman Cornerstone scaffolds instruction for multiple levels of language proficiency, and helps each student move to the next level. This chart compares the different language proficiency leveling systems used throughout the United States. Find your leveling system and use the lesson instruction in your Teacher's Edition that is appropriate for your students.

Levels of Proficiency	Beginning		Early Intermediate		Intermediate		Early Advanced		Advanced
	Level I	Entering	Level II	Beginning	Level III	Developing	Level IV	Expanding	Level V	Bridging
Characteristics of the English Language Learner	Beginning		Intermediate		Intermediate		Advanced		Advanced High
	- May be unfamiliar with sounds, rhythms, or patterns in English - Respond by pointing, gesturing, or drawing - Can use simple yes/no responses or one- to two-word answers - Read simple language that they have already heard - Write labels, patterned sentences, or short close sentences		- May understand more details in spoken English - Use longer phrases and sentences with better grammar - Write for a variety of purposes using models - Can read independently after oral previews		- Participate in discussions about academic content - Can use higher-order language to describe or persuade - Write narratives and expository text - Use vocabulary with more accuracy and correctness		- Have a deeper understanding of everyday language, including idioms - Use more extensive vocabulary and produce language with fewer grammatical errors - Use standard forms when writing - Produce writing about varied topics		- Use more complex and varied grammatical structures and vocabulary - Read texts appropriate for grade level - Write about a variety of topics on grade level - Begin to self-monitor and correct as they read and write
What They Can Do: Performance Indicators	- Listen - Point - Illustrate - Match - Choose		- Name - List and group - Categorize - Label - Demonstrate		- Compare and contrast - Recall and retell - Summarize - Explain		- Analyze - Debate - Justify		All performance indicators
Teaching Strategies	- Provide opportunities for active listening and visuals - Model language with songs and chants - Pair students with more proficient speakers - Ask yes/no questions; require responses of one or two words - Use manipulatives and pictures - Provide writing frames		- Allow students to make personal connections with the material - Structure group discussion time - Ask open-ended questions and then model, expand, restate, and enrich student language - Allow students opportunities to create language for a variety of purposes and audiences		- Use graphic organizers to prepare students for reading and to discuss selections - Promote academic concepts and vocabulary with nonfictional texts, magazines, newspapers, and so on - Conference with students about writing to point out areas of progress and areas for improvement		- Structure discussion for the group - Provide reference materials for students and guide them with the research - Introduce more variety of literary forms - Provide opportunities for more variation in writing assignments		- Provide opportunities for students to publish their writing for others to read - Increase students' production of language through drama and music - Continue to make strong links between content-area materials and literacy activities

Culminating Activity: Differentiating Chart Analysis

Use the knowledge you have gained from the five Virtual Course sessions to complete the Differentiating Chart Analysis. Refer to the Teacher's Edition and consider the content in the Scope and Sequence, Appendix A, and the Comparative Analysis Chart. Then, select one Reading lesson from a unit and consider Cornerstone components to differentiate the different levels of language proficiencies to plan an effective lesson for English language learners.

Culminating Activity: Scoring Rubric

Refer to the following rubric to help you complete the Culminating Activity: Differentiating Chart Analysis.

3 Exceeds Expectations	2 Meets Expectations	1 Needs Improvement
Comparative Analysis Chart is exemplary and superior. Objectives, Big Question, and standards are aligned to the lesson. Elements are considered and critically described throughout the analysis. Activities are demonstrated and deeply associated with the appropriate language proficiency level.	Comparative Analysis Chart demonstrates satisfactory and attention throughout the course. Objectives, Big Question, and standards are slightly aligned to the lesson. Some elements are considered and critically described throughout the analysis. Activities are demonstrated and unclearly associated with the appropriate language proficiency level.	Comparative Analysis Chart is not relevant and does not capture the essential elements and alignment with the Big Question, objectives and proficiency levels. Responses demonstrate lack of attention throughout the course and needs to resubmit.
